Porter County Republicans— The Eagle Eye

Volume 4, Issue 6

June 2021

Chairman's Comments

Fellow Republicans —

Summer is upon us and the insane left, with its eager minions in the press, face book, google and twitter, continue to run over our freedoms and personal liberties. You cannot even watch TV without being bombarded by leftwing drivel. I watch these simpletons calling everyone they disagree with a racist, and labeling anything that supports the rule of law, the Constitution, the Bill of Rights or our history in general systemic racism. This insanity has to stop!

For our part, it's time to buckle down and get prepared to elect folks that truly represent our values and ideals. For our precinct committeemen and interested volunteers we'll be meeting on Saturday, June 26th at 9:00 a.m. The location is being finalized and you'll each receive an invite. This planning session is the beginning of our efforts to engage all voters, friends, neighbors, family members even strangers on the street. We must express a position of individual liberties, personal freedom, personal responsibility, free speech, fiscal responsibility, limited government, responsible government and a government that answers to the voters. Indiana sets the standard for the rest of the country for what high quality Republican leadership can achieve — fiscally sound, fiscally responsible, limited government that works without excessive regulation.

I know some of you will disagree, especially with what's occurred over the last 13 months because of the pandemic, but I do remind you that all you need do is look to our north and west and realize, though imperfect and at times both frustrating and annoying, we are leaps and bounds ahead of those folks in every way. Rhetoric is easy, governing is hard.

We need to begin to engage the voters NOW! There is no time to waste to build our coalition and rev up our voters for Election 2022. We need to add people to our team. Though we all have varying opinions and positions, in the end we're all striving for truly effective, efficient limited government that practices fiscal conservatism, fiscal restraint and understands that individual liberties are what guarantee us our freedom. This is how Indiana and Porter County operate. To a frightening contrary, what we're seeing out of Washington, DC and the current administration is a complete lack of fiscal responsibility and understanding of individualism.

Finally, I want to thank all of you once again for the support you've shown the Republican leadership team and for all you do for our party. I look forward to the successes created by the excellent leadership we have elected. I pray for the future of the United States of America!!!

Porter County Republican Women

The Porter County Republican Women held their first meeting of the year at Tate's Place in Portage on Saturday, May 29th. The group had fourteen members in attendance withn Monica Kozlowski, President of the Indiana Federation of Republican Women as their guest speaker.

The group is proud to announce their plans to move forward as a new Porter County charter with IFRW. The group will hold a "call out" meeting in June for new memberships. The new charter will focus on leadership development for women in government, running for political office and becoming a voice within the community. Watch for us on Facebook! If you are interested in more details, please contact Victoria Gresham at Victoria.pcgop@gmail.com.

U.S.—Well, it looks like the 2024 presidential race is kicking off, with former (and possibly future) President Donald Trump running his first set of ads on the television screens at gas pumps across the nation.

The ads began running this week, and mostly feature the politician and real estate mogul asking people if they miss him yet. They play on a loop over and over again as people at the pumps fill up their cars, paying the highest prices they've paid for gas in many years.

"Miss me yet?" Trump says in the 30-second spot. "If I were you, I'd miss me. I'm the most missable person, really. Everyone says so, all the best people. I tried to warn you. I tried to warn you people what would happen. But no, you didn't listen, and now you're paying five bucks for gas. Sad! But I'll take you back. One thing about me is I'm very gracious. So let's get me back in the White House in 2024. And I'll forgive you people. Most of you, anyway."

The Biden campaign isn't taking this lying down though, and is running a series of billboards near gas stations with the catchy slogan, "THE HIGH GAS PRICES ARE BECAUSE THE ECONOMY IS DOING GREAT!"

SACRAMENTO, CA—Governor Newsom has announced a lottery sweepstakes where five lucky vaccinated Californians will be allowed to leave California for a better state.

Each winner, chosen at random, will get a free U-Haul rental and a nice property in another state of their choice, no questions asked.

"Do you want to leave this hellhole? Then get the shot!" Newsom said at a press conference Friday. "We'll even spring for the long U-Haul and a trailer so you can bring your car along. Which is great, since your car will be illegal here in a decade."

"Come one, come all, step right up and win the prize of a lifetime!" he added, donning a top hat and a cane and dancing around the U-Haul lot. "Who's gonna win? Nobody knows! It could be you! So get the vaccine and see just how much freedom there is once you leave the Golden State!"

At the announcement, millions of Californians rushed to get vaccinated, bringing the total number of vaccinated people in the state to 138 million.

Roadrunner Condemned For Disproportionate Use Of Force Against Coyote

May 17th, 2021 - BabylonBee.com

MOJAVE DESERT, NV—Conflict has heated up between Wile E. Coyote and the Road Runner, with Coyote once again being tricked into plummeting off a cliff. This has led to worldwide condemnation of the Road Runner and his disproportionate use of force, as the Road Runner has repeatedly and severely injured Coyote while Coyote has not once laid a hand on the Road Runner.

“The Road Runner has constantly caused Wile E. Coyote to explode, run into walls, and fall off of extremely high cliffs,” reads a U.N. resolution against the Road Runner. “This is abusive treatment of an animal that is merely hungry and has never (successfully) harmed anyone, and the abuse must end.” The resolution was signed by most members of the U.N. (though not the U.S.).

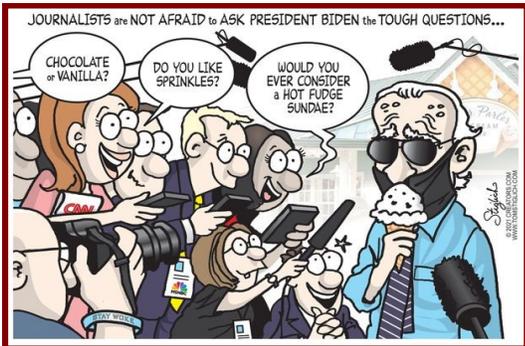

Despite wide condemnation of the Road Runner, President Biden has reiterated support for the Road Runner, saying the Road Runner has a right to self-defense against “coyotes and other predators.” This has put him in conflict with many progressives, including “The Squad,” who see a large imbalance between the threat to the Road Runner and the violence inflicted on Coyote.

“He is just a mean, mean bird,” said Representative Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez. “And what is he doing running around on the ground? The ground is not for birds.” Ocasio-Cortez started pounding her podium. “The ground is not for birds! He needs to go back where he came from... the sky!”

Activists are trying to get businesses to join in putting pressure on the Road Runner with an announcement they have joined forces with the ACME Corporation.
